

Quick Index

Issue
Briefs

Issue
Organizations

Think
Tanks

Academic Experts

Federal Agencies

Index

Project Vote Smart

Providing the Information for a Better Democracy

Project Vote Smart, a citizens' organization, is dedicated to providing voters with the essential information to self-govern effectively. Because a knowledgeable electorate is the strongest component of a functioning democracy, Project Vote Smart strives to provide free, non-biased, in-depth, and accurate information about current officials, candidates, issues, legislation, government, and voting.

The Reporter's Source Book is an extension of this effort. It provides overviews of important issues that will play a key role in the election and includes a directory of contact information for major issue organizations, think tanks, academic experts, and federal agencies. By providing these resources, the goal of this publication is to help journalists put valuable information into the hands of the public.

Project
Vote
Smart

The Reporter's Source Book

For additional resources and to learn more about Project Vote Smart, visit our website or call our toll-free Voter's Research Hotline:

www.votesmart.org

1-888-Vote-Smart

2008
Edition

Project Vote Smart

The Reporter's Source Book

2008 Edition

A Gift from the Members of Project Vote Smart